

PULSE™ AT WORK

JEFF R. - Attorney

"I'm always looking to have as many tools as possible that allow my small law firm, to compete with the bigger firms."

PETER H. - Marketing

"The most important thing that really drives my productivity, is the ability to annotate the notes after an event."

TIM F. - Education

"It's going to hear what I don't hear, and remember what I don't remember."

LISA W. - Consultant

"I can go back and remember 'You said you wanted this, and now you're saying you want that, what did you really want?', and let us remind ourselves of that conversation."

PULSE™ AT SCHOOL

JOYCE - French Major

"I don't have to focus so much on my note-taking, I can take more time to listen to what the teacher's actually saying."

BRANDI - Design Major

"Sometimes it's nice to write it down and see what you wrote and what your other classmates wrote and be able to share them. So you're not missing anything."

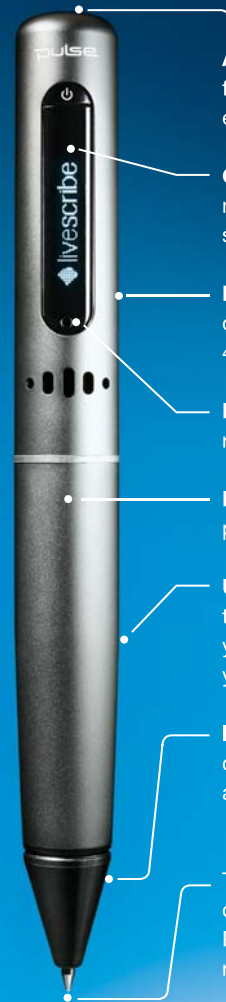

KENJI - Engineering Major

"I've shown my professors who are also interested in using the pen as a method of creating study guides and reviews for test."

PIERRE - Psychology Major

"It has given me a lot more confidence in class. I can take the time to speak up, ask questions and do things. Otherwise I would be too focused trying to catch up with the things that I've heard that I needed to write down."
